

JOHN CONSTABLE IN HAMPSTEAD - WALK

Meet at Hampstead Tube Station
Hampstead High Street, London NW3 1QG
Wednesday 15 July 2026, 11am, £6

If you have signed up for The Arts Society's regular emails, you may remember their May email included Become an Instant Expert on John Constable. One of our members, Jeremy Prescott, has kindly offered to lead us on a Hampstead walk focusing on Constable's life and works linked to the area.

Following his marriage, John Constable (1776-1837) practiced largely in London, spending summers in Hampstead and then living there permanently with his family. Our walk will look at two of the houses they lived in and local scenes and views that he painted, ending at the family's tomb at St John's, Hampstead.

The walk will start at Hampstead tube station. Please arrive by 11am for a prompt start. The walk is about two miles and will include some rough and inclined paths, so you will need to be well-shod, fully mobile and reasonably fit. Spaces are limited. Jeremy is not taking a fee for the walk, but we are asking participants for a payment of £6 to cover the Society's administrative costs. We do hope you can join us.
